Letters and Sounds Matching Caterpillars

©2016 MomInspiredLife.com

Font from: KimberlyGeswein.com

Clip art from:

Instructions

Match the circles with letters and corresponding beginning sounds pictures so that they make a caterpillar.

There is only 1 beginning sounds picture for the X caterpillar. I left the additional circle in case you want to add something to that one yourself.

Set Up

1. Print onto card stock for durability.

2. Cut the caterpillar cards apart on the lines that divide each circle.

3. Laminate and cut again, if you would like.

Dotted Butterflies

©2016 MomInspiredLife.com

Clip art from:

Instructions

Use these butterflies to work on symmetry or a variety of other skills.

You can use the one that is colored on one side and black and white on the other by using dot stickers, dot markers or even crayons. Kids will color the dots on the other side so that they are symmetric to the colored side.

Or make your own version with the black and white butterfly.

Put lowercase letters on one side and have kids put uppercase matches on the other. Or numbers. Or anything else you can think of.

Or just use dot stickers to do a letter matching activity on any of the butterflies. Write lowercase letters on the dots and then write their uppercase matches on colored dot stickers. Have your kids peel and place the uppercase stickers to their match on the butterfly.

Match numbers, sight words or even shapes too.

There are lots of ways to use them!

Bugs in a Jar Counting Mats

©2016 MomInspiredLife.com

Font from: KimberlyGeswein.com

Clip art from:

Mycutegraphics.com

Instructions

Put the correct amount of bugs in each jar.

The last page includes a jar with dots in it. This is so you can play a game. Each player rolls a dice and puts the correct amount of bugs in the jar. One bug on each dot. The first person to cover all 20 dots, wins!

That page also includes blank jar so that you can choose to have your kids add a specific number of insects to the jar before winning.

Set Up

1. Print onto card stock for durability.

2. Cut the jars apart on the line that divides the page.

3. Laminate and cut again, if you would like.

Flowers Counting Clip Cards

©2016 MomInspiredLife.com

Font from: KimberlyGeswein.com

Clip art from:

KariBolt
children's illustrator

Instructions

Children should pick the number on the right that matches the amount of flowers on the left.

I like to use mini clothepins for additional fine motor practice. But you can also use craft pom poms, mini erasers or something else to mark the correct number.

Set Up

1. Print onto card stock for durability.

2. Cut the cards apart. I put them up against each other so that you have less cuts to make.

3. Laminate, if you would like.

Font from: KimberlyGeswein.com

Clip art from:

KariBolt children's illustrator

RamoniaM Graphics

Instructions

Use the spring number mats with mini butterfly or bug erasers/manipulatives.

Children will place the corresponding number of butterflies or bugs on the flower.

They may also place erasers, play dough balls, pom poms or other manipulatives on the dots in the ten frame.

They can even trace the number with play dough.

I like to slip mine in a write and wipe pocket so that they can use dry-erase markers or play dough on them as well.

Set Up

1. Print onto card stock for durability.

2. Laminate or slip into a write and wipe pocket.

Flowers Board Game

©2016 MomInspiredLife.com

Font from: KimberlyGeswein.com

Clip art from:

Instructions

Use this to play a variety of games.

Write letters on each flower. Roll a dice (die) and move that many spaces on the board game. Say the name of the letter you land on and the sound it makes, if you would like. The person who gets to the end first, wins!

Do the same thing as above, but write sight words or CVC/CVCC words on the flowers. Read the word you land on.

You can even write addition or subtraction problems on the flowers and kids will give the answer to the problem when they land on each flower.

Set Up

1. Print onto card stock for durability.

2. Laminate, if you would like.

Instructions

Put the correct alphabet frogs on each log to form the word shown on the log.

For example: The frogs with p, a and n on them will be placed on the log that says "pan"

Set Up

1. Print on to card stock for durability.
2. Cut the logs apart on the line that divides the page.
3. Cut out the frogs.
4. Laminate and cut again, if you would like.

 Print several pages of the frogs, if you would like to have more letters available.
